Senate Squabble Halts MacArthur Inquiry

Bradley's Silence Stirrs Row

Washington (AP) — The inquiry into Gen. Douglas MacArthur's ouster exploded yesterday into a bitter squabble among senators over their power to force Gen. Omar N. Bradley to tell what was said at a meeting with President Truman last April 6. The White House talk was about firing the Far East commander.

The dispute shoved aside Bradley's testimony on the Korean war.

It brought angry talk that the White House may be "pulling an iron curtain" down on the testimony—and counter charges that the Republicans may be "trying to sabotage" the Asia policy inquiry because they don't like the way the testimony is going.

The Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees—conducting the hearing—will vote this afternoon on whether to try to force Bradley to reveal the White House conversation. All the signs are that Bradley will be upheld in his refusal.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.), the inquiry chairman, said the question will be: "Whether or not a congressional committee has the proper power to compel an adviser of the President of the United States to disclose the details of a conversation had with the President on a confidential basis."

This issue arose Tuesday when Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) asked Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to tell what was said at the meeting which led to MacArthur's dismissal six days later.

Bradley refused on the grounds that such a disclosure would destroy him in the role of a confidential adviser to the President. And yesterday Mr. Truman upheld Bradley in his refusal—saying through an aide that Bradley should not answer.

Bradley told the senators Tuesday that the MacArthur program to extend the Korean war against China would involve the United States "in the wrong war, at the wrong place, at the wrong time and with the wrong enemy."

Yesterday the five-star general had no chance to continue his arguments. As he sat quietly looking on, the committee members quarreled over his right to refuse the testimony, and then they asked him to return Monday. The general has west coast appointments in the meantime.

No witnesses are expected to be heard today but Maj. Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, is slated to testify Friday.

Russell declared he is "thoroughly convinced" Bradley is acting within his rights in refusing the testimony but Republican senators took sharp issue with him.

Senator Wiley told reporters: "The real question is whether the people are entitled to know what this deal (MacArthur's dismissal) was engineered and who participated in it. We want to know what was said."

And in the hearing he argued: "I say for the sake of justice, for the sake of truth, for the sake of the people, they should tell us what this thing (ouster) was engineered, what the facts were that they said justified the act, what was said."

Bradley denied to the senators that any "iron curtain" had been pulled over his testimony.

He said he was willing to tell what conclusions were reached at the meeting attended by himself, the President, Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Marshall and Presidential Adviser W. Averell Harriman.

"I am perfectly willing," he said, "to tell you the reasons advanced by the three chiefs of staff when they gave their reasons (for MacArthur's ouster) to General Marshall."

But Wiley, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) and other Republicans insisted he should tell what was said in the conversations leading to the decision.

Senate Approves India Grain Bill On Loan Basis

Washington (AP) — The Senate yesterday approved a bill authorizing the shipment of 2,000,000 tons of grain to famine-threatened India on a 100 per cent loan basis.

The $190,000,000 loan is repayable at low interest rates over a period of more than 30 years.

A similar measure is scheduled to come before the House today. Its fate there is uncertain in the face of strong opposition.

In passing the legislation, the Senate rejected a plea by President Truman who had asked Congress last February to send $190,000,000 worth of food to India as an outright gift.

Several senators noted that India herself never asked for free aid. India also refused to barter materials which might be used in atomic weapons in return for the grain.

Passage came by voice vote after the Senate voted, 52 to 32, to approve the commitment as a straight loan, instead of a half-loan-half-gift as recommended by the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Without objection, the chamber approved an amendment by Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.) requiring the secretary of agriculture to certify that grain shipments to India "will not impair the fulfillment of the vital needs of the United States."

The amendment also provides that the United States may negotiate with India for repayment of at least part of the loan in strategic materials.

Senator Dirksen (R-Ill.) lost in a move to have the bill spell out exactly what India should send this country in exchange for the grain.

Citing this country's vast foreign aid programs, Dirksen declared: "It's high time we get a little something out of this. Are we going to be suckers?"

He said the United States, for example, needs 1,500,000 tons of manganese a year and produces only about 200,000 tons.

Illinois Quadruple Amputee Going Home For Visit, Parade

Phoenixville, (AP)—Pvt. Hubert E. Reeves, quadruple amputee victim of the Korean war, is going home for a visit and a big parade today.

Accompanied by his mother, Wannetta, the 19-year-old infantryman, will fly to his home town of Joliet, Ill. There young Reeves will act as parade marshal in an Armed Forces day celebration Saturday. Then he'll come back to the Army's Valley Forge General Hospital.

Reeves, who was wounded in the legs and head after little less than a month in Korea, is all excited about his trip home.

"Gosh, it's wonderful. I was sure hoping the trip would work out," he said.

NPA Weighs New Cut In Auto Steel

Washington, (AP)—The government was reported yesterday to be planning a new cut in the use of steel for automobiles on July 1, for a total reduction of possibly 35 per cent under 1950.

A new type limiting order also is under study which, some officials said, would encourage auto manufacturers to concentrate their output on smaller, lighter models rather than the heavier and costlier ones.

The National Production authority has called a meeting of the industry's ten major producers for Friday. The invitation said NPA would present proposals for further copper and aluminum restrictions as well as steel limitations but gave no further details.

Officials indicated, however, that a further five per cent cut in July is in prospect. Steel usage, now limited to 80 per cent of the consumption a year ago, is to drop to 75 per cent in June and 70 per cent in July under existing regulations.

The reported new reduction would deepen the July curtailment. Most major household appliances are under similar curtailment orders.

Auto trade sources, when questioned as to the industry reaction to the proposal, said the passenger car producers would of course "go along" if the cut were shown to be necessary but would insist that other durable goods such as refrigerators and washing machines be reduced to the same extent.

Meanwhile, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan conceded that some livestock feeders "are going to get hurt" by the beef price rollback but he backed up the order and disputed claims that it will jeopardize production. He gave his views while cattlemen were filing new complaints of a "squeeze."

The Office of Price Stabilization ordered a nationwide inquiry into reports of illegal livestock slaughtering. A particular study will be made of Class 2 slaughterhouses, whose product is not federally inspected. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer put in a warning that the U. S. is scraping the bottom of some important defense materials, including copper and zinc.

House Urged To Continue Tax On Soft Drinks

Harrisburg (AP)—The House received a new bill yesterday to continue Pennsylvania's soft drink tax as a move to avoid a flat income tax.

The levy, which imposes a penny tax on each 12 ounces or less of bottled soft drink, is scheduled to expire May 31 unless reenacted.

Gov. John S. Fine opposes continuance of the tax which produces $30,000,000 during a two-year period.

Rep. Joseph P. Rigby (R-Allegheny), the sponsor, said that reenactment of the soft drink tax will help to raise funds to avoid levy of the proposed one-half of one per cent flat income tax.

House Committee Okays FEPC Bill

Harrisburg, (AP)—The House Labor Relations committee, prodded by Gov. John S. Fine, approved a bill yesterday banning discrimination in jobs in Pennsylvania because of race, color or creed.

The measure would create a fair employment commission in Pennsylvania and set up machinery to assure equality in employment opportunity. The committee's action sent the bill to the House for a vote.

"It is high time in Pennsylvania to give our people the God-given right of equality regardless of race, creed or color," the Governor wrote Chairman W. Stuart Helme (R-Armstrong) as the committee met.

Warns Of Crisis

Washington (AP) — William L. Clayton, former under-secretary of state, said yesterday the oil dispute in Iran might explode "tomorrow" into a crisis which would touch off world war three. Clayton expressed belief that such a crisis would expose dangerous disunity among the western nations as well as military weakness.

Mercury Soars To 86; Another Scorching Today

It wasn't the first day of summer yesterday, but it might just as well have been as far as many a perspiring Monroe county resident was concerned.

Weatherman Michael F. Hannon said temperatures ranged from a low of 56 to a high of 86. Mean temperatures was 71, much warmer than normal.

Today's weather is expected to follow the same pattern. It will be hot again. Clouds will move in and may develop into local rain showers later in the day.

Fine Pledges Support To Gilbert Group

Gov. John S. Fine yesterday gave a group of West End residents assurance he will do everything in his power in their battle to prevent a stock-car race track from locating near the Salem Reformed and Lutheran churches at Gilbert.

Advising that he could be quoted to that effect, Governor Fine said during the audience in his chambers that the services of his administration's Department of Justice is at the disposal of protesting churches and citizens.

Apparently Department of Justice will explore the legal phases of the proposed track location. Whether they will enforce any legal action, if that is possible, was not announced.

The governor granted the audience a few days ago and listened attentively to the report made by spokesmen for the two churches and protesting citizens organizations.

After asking a few questions, he pledged his full support in battle against the track's location and the services of the Department of Justice.

Army Clique Grabs Control

La Paz, Bolivia (AP) — President Mamerto Urriolagoitia resigned yesterday and handed over the government of this turbulent tin-mining nation to a junta of three generals and seven colonels.

The coup apparently blocked off from the presidency the exiled victor Paz Estenssoro, the tin miners' candidate of the National Revolutionary party (MNR), who received the most votes in the May 6 presidential election. The government's candidate ran second.

(In Buenos Aires, Estenssoro charged the seizure of power was a "deal" to cheat him of the presidency. Interpreters of the situation reported from the Argentine capital that a stormy atmosphere had been created for paralyzing strikes, a drying up of the flow of strategic tin to western rearmament efforts, and possible bloodshed and revolution.)

Embargo Debate Opens In U. N.

New York (AP)—United States delegates looked forward last night to a big debate in the United Nations on a proposal for global embargo against shipments of arms, ammunition, and war materials to Red China. They appeared confident it would be approved by a thumping majority.

The 60-nation Political Committee of the U. N. General Assembly is scheduled to meet at 10:30 a. m. today to take up the proposed embargo.

Western Union Workers Strike

Several hundred Western Union employees, restless in their demands for a new contract, walked off the job yesterday in Cincinnati and Philadelphia.

They said they were not striking.

Their action came after a work stoppage Tuesday night at Boston. But the company said the Boston trouble had nothing to do with the contract demands.

About 300 traffic, plant, engineering and office workers left their jobs in Cincinnati, making it virtually impossible either to send or receive telegrams.

Protests Lead To Reversal Of Route Change

Sudden changing of highway route signs to label the State road extending from State bridge between the boroughs to the "paper mill" bridge across Broadheads Creek at Minisink Hills to "Route 402" brought swift assault from Eastern Poconos Resort association members and other agencies and the elimination of the designation.

William Altier, president of Eastern Poconos association, presided last night at what was to have been a mass protest meeting concerning the "Route 402" designation of the highway, but the signs had already been ordered removed.

Mr. Altier was high in his praise for the swift action obtained through Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe on the matter. He said Rep. John S. Shotwell threw his weight in the demands for change of the Route 402 designation.

The change occurred yesterday, but it was too late to get word out to all those who planned to attend the mass meeting. Represented at the session held in Mr. Altier's Inn on Milford Pike above Oak Grove were the following regional organizations.

Eastern Poconos Resort association, Pike County Recreation association, Pecks Lake association, Hawley Chamber of Commerce, East Stroudsburg Merchants association and Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce.

The Route 402 designation, protesters claimed, properly extends from Cherry Creek bridge in Delaware Water Gap to the "paper mill" bridge, thence to the "Seven Bridge road" between Minisink Hills and Marshalls Creek, where it crosses Route 209 and extends into Pike county and the Lake Wallenpaupack and Hawley regions of Wayne.

Before the meeting started last night State Highway department officials advised Mr. Altier by telephone that all the signs had been removed.

Speakers at last night's meeting included Gerald P. O'Neill, president of Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, who reemphasized that the chamber and the Eastern Poconos Resort association have a sound cooperative relationship and working plan which is and will pay off in advancement of the entire region. He praised the swift action by Mr. Altier and (Continued on page five)

Tension Mounts In Iran: Police Arrest Plotter

Tehran, Iran (AP) — Police arrested the No. 2 man of the fanatical Fedayan Islam, religious society in a gun fight yesterday and charged him with plotting the assassination of Premier Mohammad Mossadegh.

The arrest and a newspaper campaign threatening a Moslem holy war against Britain built up pressure for the speedy seizure of the rich Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. under the nationalization law.

All newspapers printed alarmist reports—not confirmed by the British government—that Britain is planning to send parachute troops to Iran to hold her southern oil fields. A Nationalist paper accused Britain of aiming at partition of the country with Russia.

A high-ranking police officer said the arrested gunman was Abolghasem Rafiee and quoted him as saying: "Mossadegh is lucky I am caught. Otherwise he would have been shot within the next two or three days."

Chinese Press Forward Despite Heavy Casualties

Tokyo, Thursday (AP) — Massed Chinese Reds smashed into Allied lines in central and eastern Korea today in the opening battle of the Communists' second spring offensive. First reports were that the Reds ripped deep holes in Allied positions in the mountainous east. However, officers indicated later the gaps were closed although the Allied line was rolled back.

Spearheaded by an estimated 75,000 men in an offensive force believed to total nearly 500,000, the Reds forced a general withdrawal southwest of Inje. It is some 25 air miles inland from the east coast and 75 miles northeast of Seoul.

Acheson Has No Intention Of Resigning

Washington (AP) — Dean Acheson, target of hot fire from critics of the Truman administration, declared yesterday that he "enlisted for the duration" and intends to remain as secretary of state as long as the President wants him.

The statement could be taken as an answer to Rep. Burleson (D-Tex.), who disclosed last night that he had made a personal appeal to Acheson to resign in view of "the great sentiment opposing you."

Burleson said he wrote a letter to the secretary May 7, urging him to take the initiative in a resignation because President Truman, not being disposed "to concede in very many things," probably will never ask for it.

Everything possible must be done to unify the nation for the tremendous tasks ahead, Burleson said.

After stating his position at a news conference, Acheson then proceeded to reprove reporters who, in his words, fiddle around with the technical and secondary questions of whether the United States would veto Red membership in the United Nations.

Acheson argued that the important thing is to persuade a majority of the United Nations members that Red China, defying the U. N. in Korea, must not be permitted to shoot its way into the peace league. He pointed out that only in the Security Council can membership be controlled by veto, the other U. N. agencies operating on majority rule.

Racketeer Convicted

New York (AP)—Numbers racketeer Louis Weber was convicted last night of lying to the Kefauver Senate Crime committee about his relations with Democratic politician James J. Moran.

Weber had denied ever knowing Moran.

Moran, in turn, swore to the Senate committee he met Weber no more than half a dozen times. He was convicted of perjury last week and is appealing a five-year prison sentence and a $2,000 fine.

The government said the two men met more than 100 times when Moran was first deputy fire commissioner and a close pal of former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

A jury of 10 men and two women deliberated four hours and 45 minutes before branding Weber guilty in Federal court.

Like Moran, the heavy-faced convicted numbers racketeer faces a maximum prison term of five years and $2,000 fine.

Emergency Fund Asked

Harrisburg (AP) — A move was started yesterday to save 50,000 State employees from payless paydays next month because of the legislative impasse on Gov. John S. Fine's tax program. An emergency bill to set aside $9,000,000 for State operations in June was introduced in the House.

Deadline Set Back For Voters

Harrisburg (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine signed into law yesterday a bill setting back the deadline for registration of voters prior to a municipal election.

Under the new law, voters will not be allowed to change their registration or to renew a lapsed registration during the 50 days prior to a municipal election. It would also apply to citizens who seek to register to vote for the first time.

The previous period was during the 35 days prior to a municipal election.

The 50-day period continues for primary and general elections in the years voters elect a governor or a President.

Allied Artillery Mowed Down Waves Of Attacking Reds

Field discharges, delayed by censors, reported an estimated 2,000 Reds were killed by artillery alone during the opening stages of the offensive yesterday.

First reports on the offensive told only of waves of Red foot soldiers but made no mention of tanks or heavy artillery.

At U. S. Eighth Army headquarters, the assaults were described as general from the vicinity of Kapyong, in the west-central sector, to the east coast. Kapyong is 32 miles northeast of Seoul.

One South Korean division on the east coast was forced back an unreported distance. It was the first Allied unit struck in force after a series of Red probing attacks. The assault spread quickly to American forces east and south-east of Chunchon, more than 45 air miles northeast of Seoul.

The 20-mile mountainous stretch between Chunchon northeastward to Inje apparently was the main battleground.

AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky, at Eighth Army headquarters, reported the first assaults were launched by Red units ranging in size from companies to regiments.

"At the same time, Communist forces strengthened their resistance to Allied patrols in the area around Munsan, Seoul and Uijongbu on the western front," Polowetzky reported.

(Munsan is 22 miles northwest of Seoul; Uijongbu 11 miles north.) "South Korean forces on the east-central front in the Inje area were hardest hit and fell back virtually along the entire front."

"American forces east and south-east of Chunchon also were hit by strong Chinese Communist attacks, but generally the Americans were holding their positions."

The Eighth Army reported that the Reds, at heavy cost, had made three penetrations southwest of Inje. Red casualties yesterday were estimated at 3,555. Twenty-three prisoners were taken.

In Tokyo, the general headquarters mid-morning communique reported Allied forces "executed limited withdrawals as enemy pressure increased."

The attacks began with six probing thrusts at 10 a. m. yesterday. The action slackened at 1:30 p. m., but at nightfall the Reds renewed the assaults with increasing intensity.

Drizzling rains and a low overcast hampered Allied air support of ground troops. But bombers and fighters managed 500 sorties against Red supply lines yesterday.

A briefing officer at Eighth Army headquarters said today the South Korean forces on the east-central front "are falling back to previously determined positions."

"We are in good shape," he said. "There is nothing to worry about."

The Reds smashing into South Korean positions east and north-east of Inje penetrated the line at a point between two Allied battalions. That attack later was reported contained.

87 Degrees In N. Y.

New York (AP)—The mercury hit 87.4 degrees at 3:35 p. m. yesterday to set an all-time record for this date in New York City. The old record for May 16 was 83.2 degrees in 1932.

Charles Malsch Found Guilty Of Assault; Sentenced To Pay Costs, Plus Fine Of $100

Charles Malsch, 73-year-old Pocono Lake resident, was found guilty of assault and battery by a Monroe county jury yesterday.

He was sentenced by the court to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $100 for the use of the county.

The charge against the elderly Pocono Lake man was preferred by nearly as venerable William C. Court, 65-year-old handyman formerly employed by Malsch.

In testimony presented before the jury yesterday, Court claimed he was struck and knocked down by Malsch when he went to the Malsch home last November 15 to obtain two fishing rods, a shotgun and a hunting knife left there.

Two witnesses for the prosecution, Milo Elwine and Fred Ley, both of Pocono Lake, told how they accompanied Court to the Malsch residence on November 15 and that they witnessed the scuffle which ensued. Both declared that the defendant used abusive language and struck the first blow.

Attorney J. Joseph McCluskey, who represented Malsch yesterday, presented a move to quash the proceedings when the case was attached, but the motion was denied, and the testimony was offered after the jury was drawn.

McCluskey had maintained that Malsch's constitutional rights were infringed upon in that he was not given a full hearing before Justice of the Peace Walter S. Merwin, Mount Pocono, on March 27 after Pfc. James H. Horan, of Mount Pocono State police, served a warrant on him.

It developed that the defendant had waived hearing before Justice Merwin and had posted $300 bail at that time.

Called to the witness stand, Court testified that he called twice at the Malsch home on November 15 and that, on the second visit, an argument developed over a mattress which Court had damaged while sleeping in a room fitted out for him in the Malsch basement.

He said Malsch's wife was keeping his belongings until he paid for a new mattress.

When cross-examined by Attorney McCluskey, Court acknowledged that Malsch had a warrant served on him on December 18. He also admitted that two charges preferred by Malsch at that time were a result of the same altercation, but he denied pleading guilty to the charges.

He persistently stated that he never entered a plea at that time, but that he had agreed to pay $38.50 for the mattress. Later testimony by other witnesses bore out Court's contention, although statements by Malsch indicated that he (Malsch) had concluded the man had in effect pleaded guilty by agreeing to replace the mattress.

Elwine, one of the two who had accompanied Court to the Malsch home, said he was an eye-witness to the fight and that Malsch struck the first blow.

In response to questioning, he revealed that he had met Court in a tavern that evening before the fight, and that Court had asked him to help him move his belongings from the Malsch home to quarters at Ley establishment.

Elwine disputed a defense statement to the effect that he, Court and others went to Justice of Peace Harold Dunlap at Pocono Lake that same night to swear out a warrant, but were refused because of their intoxicated conditions.

He said he didn't know why the warrant was denied, but he stated emphatically that they were not drunk.

Fred Ley, 21, son of the restaurant and taproom operator, told the court and jury that he happened to witness the fight because he had offered to drive Court Elwine to the Malsch home because Court had no car.

Ley also testified that he also went to Justice Dunlap on December 18 and waited with Court for an hour before Malsch appeared. He said he was there all the time and there was no plea and no hearing, only an agreement by Court to replace the damaged mattress.

Dr. Paul Sterner, physician who has been practicing at Pocono Pines since July 1950, appeared to testify concerning treatment he had given Court.

The physician declared, however, that he hadn't been consulted professionally by Court until mid-January when he examined the man and found that he has a serious heart condition.

When cross-examined by Attorney McCluskey, Dr. Sterner stated that over-exertion, excitement or sudden strain might have brought on or contributed to Court's condition, but he clearly explained that he could not ascertain whether this condition developed on or about November 15, because he had not seen the patient until the middle of January.

When Malsch took the stand, he said he had smelled drink on his former handyman when Court came to the house on November 15. He contended he was struck by the first blow, and he denied using foul and abusive language.

When questioned by the district attorney, Malsch admitted that he didn't hear Court say "I plead guilty" at the December 18 hearing.

Thomas Christie, constable, who followed Malsch to the witness box, testified concerning the defendant's good reputation in the community, but he also concurred with prosecution witnesses in that Court had not entered a guilty plea at the December hearing.

William Knowles, steward at the Wilson-Fisher American Legion post, was the last witness called. He appeared as a character witness for the defendant and also related how Malsch had asked him to come to his home to look at Court's quarters on the last day of Court's employment.

Knights Of Malta Install Kintner State Commander

Clifford R. Kintner, member of St. John's Commandery, No. 186, Knights of Malta, was installed yesterday morning as grand commander of the order in Pennsylvania by Herbert C. Zieffe, Buffalo, N. Y., supreme grand commander of the Continent of North America.

Installation of officers of the Grand Commandery was the last act of the 59th annual grand convocation of the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania, which closed three days of sessions at 2 p. m. yesterday.

Supreme Commander Zieffe installed these other officers during the final Grand Commandery session in Malta Temple, Stroudsburg.

W. A. Mather, Bellevue, Pa., grand generalissimo; Peter M. Dearing, Granville, Pa., captain general; Rev. Byron W. Sheetz, Reading, grand prelate; Elias J. Sterner, PSC, Lancaster, Pa., recorder; F. W. Gebbensleben, PSC, Hanover, Pa., treasurer; D. W. Heckle, Leechburg, senior warden; Leroy Darr, York, junior warden; George H. Taylor, Carnegie, sword bearer; Harry T. Acker, Lancaster, standard bearer; John Shafer, Waynesboro, warden; Carl H. Smith, Pittsburgh, sentinel; Fred Weiser, Reading, first guard; Albert Webb, Crafton, second guard; John W. Grissinger, Camp Hill, Charles W. Kearns, Wilkensburg and Charles J. Schmidt, Homestead, all trustees.

A past grand commander's jewel was presented to retiring Grand Commander John A. Lehr, York, Pa. Grand Commander Kintner delivered an acceptance address after his installation.

"Stroudsburg did her best in entertaining this grand session," high officers of the Grand Commandery said, "and succeeded well."

All of the visiting delegates expressed their appreciation for all the courtesies and appointments here. They agreed that this region's hospitality had made the convocation such that it excelled any previously held.

St. John's Commandery's lodge and its temple were also rated the best in the experience of delegates. Harry M. Albert, chairman and toastmaster, was praised for his excellent services.

Grand Commandery's 60th annual session will be held in Pittsburgh next May. The invitation came from Mayor David L. Lawrence, Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, civic clubs and other organizations. Waynesboro was another contender for next year's convention.

The local convention committee said last night they are grateful to all officials, the citizenry and others who cooperated to make the convention successful.

Self Discipline

Bernard Baruch, elder statesman and advisor of those in high places, believes that self discipline has extremely great importance to the welfare of the nation as a whole.

In a speech the other day in New York City, he said that for America it is either self discipline or slavery. Self discipline, he defined, was the ability to put aside petty comforts and petty profits.

The United States will not be overwhelmed, he said, because other nations have superior strength, for they don't, but we shall be overwhelmed, if we are, only because we have failed to discipline the various groups in the national interest.

We don't believe the average American, if he fully realized the seriousness of the situation, would hesitate one minute to forego some of the comforts to which he has been accustomed and the profits which have made these comforts possible.

It doesn't take very deep thinking to realize that if the American way of life is to be disjoined by Stalin and his crew, there will be no profits and no comforts. It won't be a question of giving up a few things that we have appreciated but of giving up them all.

If we don't learn self discipline—capital, labor, and individual—of our own free will and accord, we shall learn a different type of discipline far different and far less pleasant.

'Friend' Nehru

Prime Minister Nehru of India either wants it known that he's on the Soviet side of the political fence or his opinion of American intelligence is so low that he sees no risk in currying favor with Russia at our expense.

He gave the Communists grist for their propaganda mills last week by opening his Parliament with a dramatic announcement that "Russian ships with wheat have started for India."

His reference was to a relatively minor purchase of 50,000 tons which had been under negotiation for some time.

If he'd had any disposition to be fair, Mr. Nehru could have explained that India has received twice that much wheat from the United States each month since the first of this year—411,000 tons in the first four months. But he ignored that.

After his announcement of the Russian shipment had been published, Mr. Nehru, as an apparent afterthought, observed that he saw no political strings to the bills now before our Congress to supply India with American wheat. But he raised no question of motives behind the Russian shipment.

The fact is that Russia is giving India nothing; it will receive Indian goods of equal value for its 50,000 tons of wheat.

The pending American legislation provides for sending India two million tons under a generous long-term arrangement, and is quite likely to turn out to be a gift.

Schools In Civil Defense

Schools very well may be a major factor in an efficient plan of civil defense. So believes Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction.

He suggests that teachers, with few exceptions, should take first aid courses; that pupils in the last two years in high school should take nursing courses; that a variety of other things be done.

Dr. Haas' suggestions, if followed, may very well be the means of developing some of the much-needed public interest in civil defense. It will involve pupils and teachers primarily, but it will touch thousands of parents and others.

Wage increases granted by aircraft companies in the first 10 months of 1950 will equal annually the cost of 100 modern jet fighters.

The majority of paved airports in the United States are of asphalt.

You're Telling Me

A suggested cure for insomnia is to think of the day's events backward. But won't remembering that extra cup of breakfast coffee keep us wider awake?

Come to think of it, old crashers never die, either; they just fade away.

There's a new spinning wheel in the old parlor—it's the knob on the television set.

What with mystery submarines, flying saucers, Little Men from Mars, etc., that old, beat-up Loch Ness sea serpent is getting plenty of competition in the Things That Aren't Really There department.

Oklahoma reports hailstones as big as baseballs. Isn't that carrying opening day promotion a bit too far?

With all those animals aboard the Ark, Zadok Dumkopf wonders if Noah's flea passenger were limited to two.

Scientists are excited because the New York zoo's duckbilled platypus is believed about to lay an egg. This is a case of if it doesn't it will have.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Ty Cobb's competitive spirit was so unquenchable that ten years after he retired, when Catcher Big Clarke laughingly recalled a time he had gotten away with a false take at the home plate (the umpire was fooled by his acting) Cobb tried to punch him in the nose. "Cost me a run I earned, you so-and-so," he cried angrily. Mind you, the game in question had been played at least fifteen years earlier.

Ty's motto was, "I've just got to be first—all the time!" He led the American league in batting twelve years out of thirteen, three times topping the magic mark of .400! And in light of the way the game is played today, his base running records are almost unbelievable.

"Getting married," philosophizes restaurateur Michael Romanoff, "it just like coming to my eating place with a pal. You select what you think you want from the menu, and then as soon as you see what's put in front of the pal, you wish you had taken that instead."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—In about 20 of her 35 movies, Janis Carter has been a wicked woman. She has committed murder—with a gun, a pitchfork, a monkey wrench, and an ice pick. She has been killed—by falling out a window or against a fireplace andiron.

Now all that is changed, thanks to color film.

"I may have played my last menace," the blonde beauty told me excitedly. "Color film has changed my life. I'm a lady now, and thank heavens! I was getting to be neuritic."

Miss Carter said she looks completely different in color and can't play a snake in it. She looks nice and starchy-eyed, as the movie moguls discovered when she made a color-film test.

Janis has completed her third picture as a nice girl, and she's enjoying the change. "In 'Santa Fe' she's a pioneer helping to build a railroad. In 'Flying Leathernecks' she waits quietly in a gunnery hut, with ironing board and child, for John Wayne to return. In 'The Half Breed' she's a showgirl in love with Indian Agent Robert Young."

This last film marks another departure for Janis. After nine years in pictures, she finally gets to do the thing for which she was hired: sing and dance.

Twentieth Century-Fox signed her from the east of the Broadway show, "Panama Hattie," in which she hoofed and warbled. "I was to be another Jeanette MacDonald," the cutie from Cleveland recalled. "Instead, for eight months I did nothing. Then I got a few bits and a loanout and asked for my release."

At Columbia, her next contractual stop, she played an "other woman" who got a pie thrown into her face. Along the way she fell into two comedy roles and got some of the best reviews of her career. One critic noted "a flair for comedy I haven't seen since Carole Lombard." Janis took the write-up to her homes. "Oh, how I begged to do comedy," she told me. "But I think they're just contrary."

Meanwhile she worked on her voice. One casting director told her it was too high; didn't sound as sexy as she looked. By diligent practice she pulled it down a whole octave. Now at RKO, she wants to do musicals. And nice-girl parts on that color-film that proves she's a lady.

In the Japanese town of Tono all four candidates for the office of mayor were tossed into the hoosegow on charges of buying votes. That's one election which nobody won.

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Marshall's Judgment
It would seem that the gist of General Geo. Marshall's argument before the Senatorial committee is that General Douglas MacArthur's judgment is not to be relied upon, that he, General Marshall, possesses a superior judgment.

Comparisons of this nature are difficult to make. Yet the record does disclose:

1. General George Marshall was present at Yalta, at chief of staff. It was at that conference that Russia exacted from Roosevelt an agreement by which Russia got a free hand in Turkestan, Mongolia, Manchuria, with leeway to conquer China by Chinese Communists, plus half of Korea, on condition that Russia would enter the far eastern war, 90 days after Germany was defeated.

Obviously, the defeat of Germany would quickly result in the defeat of Japan. Here is the timetable:

Germany defeated May 7, 1945.
Russia enters the war against Japan August 8, 1945.
Japan defeated August 14, 1945.

For a week of war, the United States gave China to Russia at Yalta. No one has ever heard General George Marshall protest that the price we paid was too high. Nor has Marshall ever declared that Roosevelt did not act on his counsel or that he ever opposed Roosevelt's decisions.

General MacArthur, our proconsul in Asia, was not invited to Yalta. The expert on Far Eastern affairs was Alger Hiss.

2. Look at Robert E. Sherwood's "Roosevelt and Hopkins," pages 303-304. There you will find a letter to Roosevelt from Henry Stimson, shortly after Germany invaded Russia, from this letter it is apparent that Marshall told Stimson:

"Germany will be thoroughly occupied in beating Russia for a minimum of one month and a possible maximum of three months."

That was 30 hours after the invasion which started June 22, 1941. Germany was so occupied until May 7, 1945. Further, Stimson wrote Roosevelt:

"They (Chiefs of Staff) were unanimously of the belief that this precious and unforeseen period of respite should be used to push with the utmost vigor our movements in the Atlantic theater of operations. They were unanimously of the feeling that such pressure on our part was the right way to help Britain, to discourage Germany, and to strengthen our own position of defense against our most imminent danger."

"As you know, Marshall and I have been troubled by the fear lest we be prematurely dragged into two major operations in the Atlantic, one in the northeast and the other in Brazil, with an insufficiency of Atlantic naval and shipping strength and an insufficiently demonstrated superiority of American seapower to hold positions steady in South America. By getting into this war with Russia Germany has much relieved our anxiety, provided we act promptly and get the initial dangers over before Germany gets her legs disentangled from the Russian mire."

First of all, the United States was then not at war. Secondly, every estimate of timing which Marshall made for Stimson has turned out to be wrong by the course of events. It is a letter too long to publish here, but I recommend it to anyone who wishes to make an appraisal of General Marshall's judgment in connection with the European war.

3. It was General George Marshall who insisted that Chiang Kai-Shek withdraw from Manchuria. That opened the way for the conquest of China by the Communists. He devoted 13 months to the impossible task of achieving a union of the Nation-

lists and Communists in China. MacArthur said that they could combine like oil and water. This letter of September 26, 1946, is an example of General Marshall's thinking. It is addressed to Chou En-Lai, head negotiator for Soviet China:

"Dear General Chou: Since your departure for Shanghai we have been steadily hoping that you would return here and thus make possible a resumption of the efforts to end the spreading civil war. The disastrous consequences to the nation of a continuation of the present situation are apparent to all. We continue in our belief that both the government and the Communist leaders sincerely desire peace and the establishment of a coalition government and the adoption of a Democratic constitution, and that the difficulties are largely questions of procedure."

"We desire to help in this to the utmost of our ability..."

G. C. MARSHALL

J. L. STUART

This attitude led to Chiang Kai-Shek's defeat and retirement to Formosa. As these efforts of General Marshall violated the history of China from 1924 to 1946, when he wrote this letter, it is apparent that his judgment was functioning in a vacuum.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington — Experts on Russian atom bombs, like dogwood blossoms in Washington, are popping out all over the place.

Various versions range from spine-chilling tabulations, designed to wear us out from worry, to casual doubts about whether the Communists even know what an atom looks like. Here are a few samples, all from administration spokesmen, who benevolently urge upon us calm and patience while they pass along the last word to us on what the future holds.

Defense Secretary George C. Marshall says it requires 10,000 subcontracts in the U. S. to build the atom bomb, and that Russia probably has less than 2,000 skillful subcontractors in all of the Soviet Union. And that "her buildup will be slower until they have developed some entirely new process."

President Truman says he fears any day now the Russians will clothe one of our cities with the flick of a bomb's switch.

Senator Brien McMahon, the upholstered chairman of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, propounds that Russia is "stockpiling atom bombs" at a vigorous clip.

Millard Caldwell, director of the Civil Defense Administration, afflicted with the same administration virus, warns us that Russia is now capable of "mass atomic blows" that will wipe out our industrial capacity.

The Little Sir Echoes of the administration, taking a cue from the White House, tremble all over public platforms with warnings of things to come.

One of the Echoes, that renowned expert on international diplomacy, Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin, says the President's foreign policy has upset the "whole communist timetable of world domination." He doesn't hazard a view on when the Russians will get their atomic bomb train back on schedule.

Mr. Truman's private eye in diplomatic bomb shelters, W. Averell Harriman, is convinced the Kremlin is scared of its shadow. He quotes Premier Stalin as having told him Russian leaders do not have the support of the Russian people and that the Kremlin fears them as much as the people fear the Kremlin.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman, and practically everyone else in the President's official political family, with the exception of Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson, are swearing across the country peddling Mr. Truman's answer to Gen. MacArthur along with predictions on Soviet war plans. Donaldson just keeps on delivering mail, including a lot of it at the White House asking the President why he doesn't go back into the haberdashery business.

Naturally all of this confuses us voters, and quite a few Americans have taken the trouble to write their congressmen. One in particular, Edmund Burke, Jr., of White Plains, New York, teetered on the edge of his patience the other day. He noticed a newspaper story to the effect that the State Department had ordered all of its employees to report all communications and conversations they receive pertaining to the current situation. Burke got himself off a letter to Senator Lehman, Democrat of New York. Here is a paragraph:

"As a taxpayer, I am fed up with paying high taxes to support large numbers of employees who are nothing but political leeches, and now I find those political leeches on the public payroll are to be used as Gestapo agents against the Free American people, who are convinced that the present administration is wallowing in a sea of confusion and socialist thinking."

Senator Lehman replied to the White Plains businessman. The reply will stand as a monument

Walter Winchell on Broadway

Winchell

Man Playing the Typewriter
A reader of the Miami Herald (C. R. Callaway) got this published in the Voice of the People dept: "Winchell has devoted considerable time and space to plugging an anti-Communist book by some unknown author. . . . The tremendous publicity wielded by him can do great things if used on the right targets. Why does he not use his voice and pen to fight the Communists in the publishing and entertainment worlds—Winchell's worlds? Such a good reporter as he should know who they are. Everybody knows Stalin, Molotov and Vishinsky are dangerous."

That's exactly the party line mentioned in "The Communist Trail in America," by Jacob Spolsky (Macmillan). The "unknown" author in it states that the Reds over here consider this columnist their "most formidable enemy" and that they plotted (in April, 1948) to "islander, defame and discredit him." That they recruited literary gentry to attack us—and party-liners to send thousands of letters to our editors and sponsors to fire us.

When Callaway—off his base—calls author Spolsky "unknown," that's correct. . . . He was undercover agent (right among the U. S. Communists) for over a decade finding out what they were up to. . . . Spolsky's counter-intelligence genius kept him busy—helping to protect our country and Callaway and his kin. . . . He had no time to get famous writing a book until recently. . . . How obscure and unknown was the late Margaret Mitchell—until she unveiled her first book "Gone with the Wind"? . . . Or Betty Smith—until her "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" grew?

Why should plaintiff Callaway complain about our recommending anti-Red book? Hmm? However, this is to debunk his attack. . . . Tow Sunday's ago the N. Y. Times confirmed the following W.W. item from here: "Lester Cole, one of the Hollywood Ten, sold a scenario under an alias."

Said the Sabbath Times: "Both Cole and Warners' flatly denied the connection even in the face of repeated press inquiries and an item by Walter Winchell naming Cole as the author." . . . That, dear Editor (and Sponsor), is why such affidavits (as Callaway's) give us the yawns. . . . These peculiar people are pushovers when they come into court (or the Letters-to-the-Editor column) without proof.

Frank Sinatra's tiff with Ava Gardner the other night (before she huffed back to Girltown) was over her ultimatum, "Get a divorce or else!" Sinatra desperately phoned his wife, who said "never!" He left after the first game of a doubleheader (the other matinee) and flew to a Florida retreat. He may be back in N. Y. now. . . . Please read the (June) Catholic Digest, now on the stands. For Kathleen Lamb Whalen's essay on the Runyon Fund. Practically a Treasurer's Report—only breezier. . . . Have a puzzle: Met star Jarmila Novotna is in "The Great Caruso" cinema but doesn't canary. . . . Dandy Kaye's soon due, "On the Riviera," seems headed for horrors. Advance heralds are giving it The Wow Buildup to political evasion and confusion on the Potomac. It was a form letter. Here is its pertinent paragraph:

"I have received your letter of recent date, and have read it with considerable interest. Your problem has been referred to the proper government department and you will receive a full reply as soon as I have obtained the necessary information."

That is one letter I've got to see.

. . . If Jazzmatazz is your dish, try Errol Garner's piano-flogging platters. . . . Dollywood's new cutie-frooti (Debra Paget) is only 17. . . . Stu Moore, the popular hotel manager, has shifted from the Roney Plaza to the Sans Souci. . . . Billy Vine's revised routines (minus the hokum) are Honky-Doo! . . . Have you heard Eileen Wilson's Decca platter, "At the Close of a Long, Long Day"? . . . Talk about treason!

A movie star confessed (in an interview) that he abhors popcorn.

Twentieth Century—Zanuck's film, "14 Hours," is a tense thing—but oh, what a letdown the finale is to anyone who saw John Ward finally jump to his death. The great Joel Sayre-New Yorker report on the work of a cop who kept talking to the Edge-of-the-Ledger in vain was altered by the Hollywood fact-spoilers.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

There is an awful lot of yelling going on about corruption in government.

Mink coats, deep freezers, Wedgwood ware, pianos—you'd think that the only way you can get anything done in Washington is to bribe somebody.

Policemen are supposed to be crooked; firemen, heretofore considered a fine bunch of fellows, are accused of being grafters; even Senators and Congressmen are under suspicion and accusation.

I have been just as vociferous as the rest of us in throwing stones.

It is so easy to condemn, to get yourself into a froth of righteous indignation. It makes you feel so big to feel that someone else is smaller and pettier.

But how about ourselves?

How about that mote in our own eyes? How about this casting-the-first-stone business?

Are we any better than those government people, those policemen, those firefighters?

Is graft, bribery, crookedness confined to government and officialdom?

It is true that those bribe-takers have taken an oath of office and we have not.

But that oath of office does not change the fact that the oath-takers remain human beings with all the foibles and weaknesses of the human being.

Does one have to take an OATH to be honest?

An oath is easily broken. Just because a fellow SWEARS that he is loyal—that doesn't make him loyal.

You think for a moment that a witness who swears to tell the truth and nothing but the truth is going to refrain from lying if he thinks lying is going to keep him out of jail?

You may say that I am preaching dishonesty and approving of it. Not at all. But I do like to face facts and not to kid myself or you.

As to bribery and graft—there isn't a day that many supposedly very honest and respectable purchasing agents and buyers are not bribed and accepting graft.

I could write pages and pages of such incidents that happened of my own knowledge.

I could tell you about purchasing agents that need a truck every Christmas to take home the "presents" they get from suppliers.

I could tell you about buyers for big stores who get their clothes for nothing and are entertained royally—as long as they keep on buying.

When you come right down to it—what is tipping but graft, and an insidious graft at that?

You expect better service if you are extra liberal with your tips. You expect a better table and a deeper bow from the headwaiter when you come back the next time.

Just a few days ago I went around looking for a new television set. One of the dealers reads my column in our local paper. He offered me a juicy discount if I mentioned his name.

I don't really know why I refused. Maybe the discount wasn't big enough. Maybe I didn't like his make of set.

Maybe I am a sucker. But I WAS tempted.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Probe and Joe
Scene: The Kremlin. Characters: Joe Stalin and a Politburo chief.

Joe—A very serious situation has arisen this morning. Here it is almost 11 o'clock and only 26 pages of testimony from the American Senate Committee's questioning of its chiefs of staff tipping me off to everything they have in mind.

Aide—I can't understand it. We had 43 pages yesterday morning by this time.

Joe—And 60 the day before. This calls for a Russian inquiry. Aide—Isn't it possible the Senate began its hearings later today?

Joe—Possible but incredible. Those U. S. Senators are very prompt in getting the full facts in the American war picture before the world swiftly. I doubt if custom over there would stand for it if they did not expose important data to everybody who cared to get it. Are you sure our cable service is working okay this morning?

Aide—I have checked. One of the clerks got writer's cramp taking down the full testimony as it came in and couldn't continue for a few minutes.

Joe—Have him shot at once. How about radio?

Aide—All our radio stations are receiving every secret in the American war plan as fast as possible, but they are feeling the strain.

Joe—I realize the immense data from America is overloading them but they must do their best. I noticed yesterday that a sentence in one of our recordings was badly garbled.

Aide—That was traced to a careless typist.

Joe—Have her put into a concentration camp! I don't want any Russian hampering the all-out effort of America to give us the complete picture of their war set-up, plans, theories, deductions, etc., syllable by syllable.

Aide—Here's an interesting paragraph from an American general's testimony. He was asked what could America do to repulse an immediate Russian attack. His reply—and I quote—was "Nothing. We will not be ready for at least two years." Then 10 words are deleted by the Senate printers to keep us from comprehending.

Joe (with a hearty laugh)—A typical American method of keeping the U. S. S. R. in the dark. . . . And I hope it continues. It is very cooperative and helpful. What do I care if it takes me a couple of minutes extra to figure out what was omitted?

Aide—The important thing is that we have been able to take adults from the Kremlin decoding staff and put babies on the job. In gives the kiddies something to do. I am amazed at the way democracies tip their mitts. What would happen if the heads of our Russian military department answered questions that way, even by request?

Joe—You know very well (The phone rings).

Penn Stroud Periled By Rubbish Fire

Stroudsburg Fire Department rolled its equipment little more than a block last night on a 9:40 call to the rear of the Penn-Stroud hotel.

There, piled high against the cement-block wall of the employees quarters and main ball room, a large pile of rubbish and plaster board was discovered aflame.

Fire snaked against the sides of the building and dangerously near a wooden structure above. Alert hotel employees prevented the fire from gaining headway, however, and had almost extinguished it with portable equipment when firemen arrived about five minutes later.

Hose lines were pulled into the hotel garage, which leads into an open area at the rear of the hotel and trucks managed to get within 50 feet of the fire. Booster lines were used to smother last remaining flames.

Gerald P. O'Neill, owner of the hotel, explained the rubble is a result of renovation operations now being completed. He said it is usually removed twice a week from the spot where the fire started.

Cause of the fire was not definitely known.

Chief Russell, of the Saylorsburg company, estimated that approximately 50 firemen and the equipment of the three companies were rushed to Effort, but none arrived in time to save the abandoned structure and other buildings.

The crews concentrated on protecting the hotel by knocking down the flame-engulfed wall of the old building which was nearest the rear of the hotel, he explained. Once this was done, it was not necessary to wet down the walls of the hotel, he added.

The present hotel is also a wooden frame building which would have burned like a tinder box had a wind jumped the sky-lighting blaze to the main establishment.

Wernet said there were no overnight guests at the time, so there was no need for evacuating anyone from the hotel. He and his family were at the rear, where the fire was burning, when firemen arrived.

Stolen Car Recovered

Stroudsburg borough police yesterday reported recovery of a 1950 sedan, owned by Lawrence L. Levy Jr., commercial photographer residing at 711 Main St.

The vehicle was reported stolen early Tuesday from a parking meter section on S. Seventh St. between Bank alley and Main St.

Chief James McConnell said the car was found yesterday parked in front of 867 Scott St. where residents in the area had observed it since noon on Tuesday.

When a description of the car and numbers in the license tag were publicized, police were notified.

McConnell said the vehicle apparently had been driven 35 miles and appeared undamaged, although marks on the back seat of the sedan indicated that it had been used to transport a heavy object.

Dirt marks were also found on the back rest cushion of the rear seat, the chief said.

Two cameras, a tripod and other photographic equipment in the trunk of the car were still there, and evidently had not been touched, he added.

Higher Milk Prices Face Local Region

The buying public in this vicinity faces a possible hike in milk prices next month.

A hearing was called yesterday by the State Milk Control commission to consider a possible milk price boost. It will be held in Allentown on Wednesday, June 6.

Dealers and producers are expected to ask for a cent-a-quart increase.

Victor E. Moore, Philadelphia regional director of the Office of Price Stabilization, already has announced his opposition to the increase, according to Associated Press.

He said he would have an OPS attorney present at the hearing—and six more which are scheduled for eastern Pennsylvania areas—to act as "the customer's lawyer."

Present producer and retail prices for class one milk in this (Lehigh) area are $5.50 a hundredweight (46½ quarts) and 21 cents a quart.

Steve Smith Acquitted Of Morals Count

Steve Smith, 69-year-old Tobyhanna man, was acquitted of statutory rape here yesterday when a 12-member jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant at 12:02 p. m. after brief deliberation in the jury room.

No further testimony was offered in the case yesterday, and it went to the jury after the attorneys completed their summations and President Judge Fred W. Davis charged the jurors.

Atty. James T. Kitson defended the elderly Smith in the two-day court action, while District Attorney Detleff A. Hansen presented the Commonwealth's case.

Completion of the Smith trial and the assault and battery trial of Charles Malsch, of Pocono Lake, narrowed the remaining criminal cases to five.

They include a charge of adultery against Edith Gallo Young, Kistler St., East Stroudsburg; a companion morals charge against Buell Hunt, Washington St., East Stroudsburg; an F&B charge against Robert Charles Thompson, formerly of Palmerton but now of Weissport; a drunken driving charge against Robert Warner Jr., Pocono Lake, and a charge of wounding a human in mistake for game animal against Edward Roy Scholl, a Muhlenberg College student.

The civil trial list was also shrunk to five remaining cases marked for trial when one was concluded in court, three others were reported settled and four more were continued by agreement of counsel.

Cases settled out of court yesterday were: Rodney Applegate, a minor, by William E. Applegate, guardian, and William E. and Florence H. Applegate vs. Otto F. Schumann, a trespass action; Raymond and Lulu Simmons vs. Otto F. Schumann, another trespass suit; and Pocono Record Inc. vs. John Fretz, an assumption action.

Civil cases continued yesterday were: William Chariton vs. Socony Vacuum Co.; Morris and Fannie Liss vs. William Altomero and Meyer Schultz; Bernard Farber vs. William Altomero; and Meyer Schultz; Floyd De Haven vs. C. C. Frantz Jr., all trespass suits.

Protests Lead To Reversal Of Route Change

Eastern Poconos on the highway route sign issue.

William V. Nixon, executive secretary of the chamber, advised Eastern Poconos members that Mr. Altier has already established himself as a great leader in regional resort and business promotion, and provided new incentive to continue protection and promotion of all aspects of regional business.

Chief Burgess Forrest Smith, Delaware Water Gap, made an appeal for all groups represented to join forces with the Delaware Water Gap community in bringing about elimination of the one-way traffic situation on Route 611 between Stateford and the "point" of the Water Gap.

He said the jams now occurring there are having a grave effect on the entire region. Slides have undermined a section of the highway, he said, and the highway department has not yet made any on-the-scene move to correct the situation even though the peak of the travel season is approaching.

All agencies represented agreed to pool their resources and seek some immediate relief.

High School Groups Sing At Meeting

The Kiwanis club of Stroudsburg observed "I Am An American Week" at the meeting at the Penn-Stroud hotel yesterday afternoon. The Girls chorus and the Mixed chorus, of Stroudsburg High school entertained. Miss Kathryn Ann Hickey was accompanist for the singers, who are directed by Numa J. Snyder.

The program was in charge of Dorell A. Hansen, who declared all the members of the groups were good Americans and tied up with the theme of the program. The young people were entertained with a treat by the club. Fred Waring music was adapted to many of the numbers.

The Girls chorus opened the program with three numbers. First was "Follow Me Down to Carlow," a Scotch tune, followed by "As Torrents In Summer." The final selection was "Happy Talk." With Joannette Nitrauer and Barbara Compton as soloists.

The second part of the program was presented by the Mixed chorus of 75 voices opening with sacred election, "A Sacred Head, Now Wounded." The next two numbers were those used by the group in contests, "Now Let Us Lift Our Youthful Voices," and the spiritual, "Let Us Break Bread Together."

The Nursery Rhyme Suite, by Harry Simone of the Waring Enterprises, included "Pussy Cat, Pussy Cat, Where Have You Been?" and "Ding Dong Bell, Pussy in the Well." A medley of songs by Kern followed. The theme song by Harry Brown, Stroudsburg, brought the program which was greatly enjoyed to a close.

Alfred Munson, principal of Stroudsburg High school, stated that the club had exceeded sale of its quota of tickets to permit lettermen of the school to attend the dinner May 24 when "Cap" Curtis will be honored.

The campaign for establishing an electric map in the county was reported by Alan W. Keiper as moving along satisfactorily with the minimum goal only one short of achievement. J. S. Swartley is co-chairman of the project. By pushing a button on the map the route to resorts and business places is brought at once.

Members were urged to furnish transportation for the chest X-ray campaign now on and to contact Mrs. William R. Levering.

President Harold W. Leininger welcomed P. J. Rawson, Seranton Kiwanian; also Alvin DeWitt, Bushkill; W. J. Smith, Garfield, N. J.; Ernie Farmer, Waring Enterprises; Harold Miller and Earl F. Groner, superintendent of schools. Robert Hilton gave the invocation.

Navy Expands Recruiting Facilities

Navy recruiting facilities have been expanded, according to Chief Petty Officer Lyman N. Price, commander of the Stroudsburg Navy Substation.

He said the Navy is now accepting a limited number of applications for active military service from Naval reserve recruits and apprentices with no previous active service.

Volunteers under this program will be ordered to recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training center, Bainbridge, Md., and subsequently to general duties with the fleet or shore stations.

Length of service is expected to be equivalent to the number of months required for inductees under Selective Service.

Applications will be accepted at the local Navy substation in Stroudsburg municipal building.

Circus Agents Arrive Here

Herb Knight and an associate, advance representative of King Brothers Circus, which will perform in this area on Thursday afternoon and night, June 14, under the auspices of the Lions club, arrived here yesterday, to start the work of preliminary publicity.

The Lions club has provided an office for the circus representatives in what was formerly the LeRoy Mikels building next to the Pennsylvania apartments and there they will make their headquarters.

The Lions have turned thumbs down on any form of circus day program, with the accompanying book advertising, but there are striking novelty advertising that will boost the coming show in the attention of local citizenry and these will be handled by the advance representatives.

Mrs. Wolbert Soloist At Club Session

One of the new members of the local Lions club, Douglas Gordon pianist had charge of the program at the regular meeting on Tuesday night at the Penn-Stroud.

The soloist was Mrs. Jean Ann Wolbert, who had as her accompanist her father, Vernon Imbt. Mr. Gordon received many congratulations on the quality of the entertainment.

The meeting was well attended and Vice President Harry Phillips was in the chair.

He called on Seymour Katz for reports on the coming wrestling match. The sale of tickets was reported as quite good, but the committee chairman said it was necessary for all members to push the sale strenuously today and to report at once turning in all cash and all tickets. It was decided to have a booth for ticket sales placed on Main St., for the final day and five volunteers to operate the same were secured.

Myron Zateeny reported on plans for the model club session to be held at the Inn at Buck Hill Falls in connection with the coming convention. The election of a new district governor will be held on Tuesday. He said it is expected, that Deputy Governor Elton Hall will be elevated to that post.

In the afternoon a social session in honor of the district governor will be held and Mr. Zateeny urged a full attendance of club members at this session.

The need of volunteers to transport members of the Stroudsburg High School chorus was emphasized. Each club is requested, also to supply six cars to aid in a tour of the Poconos on Sunday.

YMCA Lists Details For Day Camp

The YMCA day-camp will be held again this year, according to Harvey B. Burris, YMCA boys' work director.

Applications are now being received for boys who wish to attend either of the two-week sessions at Saylor's lake, Saylor'sburg.

First session will extend from June 18 through June 29 and the second session from July 9 through July 20.

Competent advisers will be in charge of the camp and boys will be taught boat handling, swimming, Indian lore, nature study, athletics, arts and crafts.

Each day the camp is in session chartered buses will transport boys to and from the lake. Buses will leave the YMCA at 8:30 a. m. and return at 5 p. m.

Mr. Burris emphasized the camp will not conflict with Little League baseball.

Costs of attending the day-camp will be $13 for one two-week session and $26 for both sessions.

This fee will include a YMCA day-camp T-shirt for each boy, transportation, insurance and all materials for arts and crafts. Each boy will have to carry his own lunch.

At the completion of each two-week period boys will be taken to Hershey where they will be conducted on tours of the museum, park and chocolate factory.

Jury Returns Verdict For Defendants In Damage Suit Resulting From Accident

A civil damage suit, resulting from an automobile-truck accident on the Weir Mountain road on Dec. 3, 1949, came to an end in Monroe county court yesterday when a jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendants.

The jury, in its verdict, ruled that neither Claude Motts, Brodheadsville, the plaintiff, nor Hayden Howell and Howell Brothers, of Saylor'sburg RD 1, recover damages.

The trial commenced on Tuesday when the court permitted Claude Motts, son of the plaintiff and a U. S. soldier on brief furlough, to testify at that time. Pic. Fred Murdock, Brodheadsville State trooper, also gave testimony on Monday in regard to an investigation he conducted at the time of the accident.

When the case was reopened yesterday after conclusion of the Smith trial, Hayden Howell, driver of the truck-type vehicle, and his brother, Carl Howell, were both placed on the stand by Atty. Charles R. Bensinger, the defense counsel.

In turn, Atty. Harold C. Edwards and J. Joseph McCluskey, who represented the plaintiffs, called John Arthur Ifft, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Ifft, Stroudsburg, and Chester Botts, a Northampton county youth. Both Ifft and Botts had been hunting in the Weir mountain area, and had observed the Motts car before and at the time it was involved in the collision.

Motts, in his suit, had sought $141 for damages to his car, while in defending themselves against

Assembly Bill Decentralizes Health Setup

Harrisburg (AP)—Broad new legislation changing Pennsylvania's public health program from the State to the local level reached the General Assembly yesterday.

The legislation, prepared by the State Health department and introduced in the House, would decentralize present State public health functions into local units.

Dr. Russell E. Teague, State health secretary, said the purpose of the legislation is to "arouse and stimulate local interest and responsibility in the field of public health."

The legislation also takes public health appointments from politics by providing for appointments on a merit basis according to professional and technical standards.

The proposed new laws would authorize the State to give special scholarships to qualified employees for further training in public health activities.

Keystone of the legislation is a provision authorizing establishment of county or joint county health departments in Pennsylvania. Present law permits only Pittsburgh and Philadelphia to maintain separate health departments.

The county health departments would be created by resolution of county commissioners. The departments would consist of a board of health composed of qualified medical men with a full-time health director. The program would be set up under a plan prescribed by the State Health department.

The State would serve as an advisor to the county boards and would pay for part of the cost of the county programs.

Dr. Teague emphasized that Pennsylvania is the only remaining state in the nation which has not permitted establishment of health organizations on a county basis.

The health secretary said it has been estimated that the county health department plan will result in a more efficient program with no more cost to the state than at present.

Air Force Announces Vacancies

M/Sgt. James J. Marion, commander of the Stroudsburg U.S. Army-Air Force recruiting station, yesterday announced what he termed "some important changes in enlistment policy, the most important of which is current vacancies for Air Force enlistments."

He stated his Air Force waiting list is practically depleted and he has been authorized to enlist more men for that branch of the service this month.

He added that men who apply within the next few weeks can be "reasonably sure" of being enlisted.

Sergeant Marion explained that applicants desirous of enlisting in either the Army or Air Force should make immediate application at the local office in order that necessary papers may be prepared.

Upon completion of these preliminary papers, applicants will be forwarded to the Wilkes-Barre main recruiting station where they will be fully processed and given a date for final enlistment.

This process, the recruiter stressed, is necessary under new enlistment policy, which authorizes each service to accept only a limited number of enlistments each month in accordance with the individual's mental and physical category.

In the future Air Force enlistees will receive their basic training at Sampson Air Force base, N.Y. The current basic training schedule calls for an eight-week training period.

Dr. W. R. Erickson will be away from his office May 16th to 19th, inclusive.—Adv.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Information received by this writer from a very reliable source indicates that Francis "Herbie" Hoover, outstanding Old Forge High school athlete, will enter East Stroudsburg State Teachers College next September. Hoover was one of the prime factors in the success of Coach Elio Gigariello's outstanding basketball team during the past campaign at Old Forge High and was reportedly sought by a host of colleges. However, Hoover picked ESSTC over all the others due to the fact that he desires to become a coach in later life.

If Hoover does actually enter ESSTC in September, he will be following in the footsteps of such other Old Forge notables as John Petercucchi and Vince Tomasetti, both of whom made their mark in football and basketball on Normal Hill in past years. Billy Long, second baseman for the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1946 and 1950, is another Old Forge resident who is well known in this area.

Hoover is also a pitcher of note. In three years of hurling with Old Forge he has compiled a 600 average against top flight competition, including a record of six wins and two defeats in 1950. Rico Pascolini, a hard running halfback for Old Forge High's football team has also been seen on the ESSTC campus recently. However, it is believed that Pascolini will postpone considering entering ESSTC until the end of the present emergency as the stellar performer is slated for duty with the Navy.

It has also been brought to this scribe's attention that at least one other outstanding football player is casting anxious eyes toward ESSTC from the Jersey side of the Delaware. If all the boys of outstanding athletic ability enter ESSTC that are contemplating the move at the present time, the Normal Hill athletic situation will be better than in recent years, despite the fear that the enrollment will drop off so sharply that athletics would be almost an impossibility. The picture right now is anything but dark.

Harry Schaeffer, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and a former southpaw pitcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos, won four of his first five pitching decisions this year with Beaumont, of the class "AA" Texas league. At this writing Schaeffer had appeared in six games and had registered 44 innings and had worked 20 strikeouts. Gene Burnett, left handed pitcher with the Poconos last year, was recently optioned to Sheboygan, of the class "D" Wisconsin State league, by Pueblo, of the class "A" Western league. The Negro hurler is the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers and played an important role in the second place North Atlantic league finish of the Poconos in 1950.

Monroe County's athletic picture lost several of its most prominent figures on Tuesday, when a contingent of local youths were inducted into the Army at Wilkes-Barre. The athletic group consisted of Stan Dudas, Harry Armitage, Ronald Landi and Dale Johnson. Dudas was a member of the Shawnee Inn golf staff, while Armitage is a former Stroudsburg High football star. Ronald Landi formerly starred in basketball at Barrett High, while Dale Johnson made his name in this area as a stock car driver. Johnson, a resident of Reeders, had been driving the car owned by Bernie Clemens, of East Stroudsburg.

It was only a couple of weeks ago that Johnson won the feature grind at Bone Stadium, Pittston's stock car track. Glenmore Newhart, Pocono Summit, also included in the latest draft contingent, was one of the top basketball fans in the area, especially when Tobyhanna Township High school is in action.

Nejako Sets School Mark In Half-Mile

Montclair, N.J. — East Stroudsburg State Teachers College had to come from behind in the late stages of yesterday's track meet with Montclair State Teachers College, on the latter's home field to score a 7 1/2 to 5 1/2 victory. It was the second win in three dual meets this season for the charges of Coach Howard DeNike who brought the 1951 campaign to a close with the hard fought victory.

Mark Nejako set a new ESSTC record for the half-mile run, when he scamped to victory in 1:56.7, two seconds faster than he covered the distance last year, when he set a school mark at that time. Nejako also came back to win the mile run.

However, the big point producer in yesterday's action was Hugh Watson, Montclair's Negro ace, who won five events and contributed 25 points, almost half the losing markers, to the home team's total.

Other ESSTC winners featured Bob Williams in the 440; Bill Prater, two-mile run; Howard Petercucchi, shot put; Ellis "Jake" Diviny, javelin, and Phil Spaziani, broad jump. George DeLong, Bob Fisher and Tom Grater all cleared nine feet, six inches in the pole vault and quit in a triple tie for first place, as the Montclair entries had already folded.

ESSTC finished the day's work in a special four-fifths of a mile relay, which found Nejako, Williams, Don Lewis and Art Nuss streaking to victory in two minutes and 41 seconds.

Summary follows:
100 yard—Hugh Watson, Montclair; Art Nuss, ESSTC. Time—16.5 seconds.
220 yard—Watson, Montclair; Nuss, ESSTC. Sid Salt, Montclair. Time—52.2.

Stroudsburg In Final Game Today

Stroudsburg High school will bring its 1951 baseball season to a close this afternoon, when the Mountaineers clash with Slatington, on the latter's home field, at 3. Coach Jerry Stulgaitis and company will attempt to improve on a record of three wins and four losses for the season and a mark of two and four in the Lehigh Valley League.

Pitcher "Will" Ellenberger, left handed tosser, has been named as the starting hurler, as Stroudsburg attempts to stretch its present victory string to three straight verdicts. The remainder of the lineup will be the same as the one that has carried the bulk of the load all season.

Stroudsburg defeated Palmerton and Whitehall in their last two outings, both at Gordon Giffels field.

Giants Edge Pirates

Pittsburgh (AP)—Whitely Lockman's single in the fifth inning scored Alvin Dark from second base and gave the New York Giants a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates last night.

Right-hander Jim Hearn, in going the distance, for the Giants, scattered five hits to gain his third victory of the season and his 12th over the Bucs in his life time.

Ralph Kiner, of the Pirates, collected three of the five hits, a single, a double and a triple.

New York ... 100 000 000—2 8 9
Pittsburgh ... 010 000 000—1 5 0

Others who were released, retired, optioned or sold outright to the minor leagues included Max Peterson and Billy Martin, Yankees; Earl Mosser, Brooklyn; Charlie Bowers, Jack Brittin and Ed Sanicki, Phillies; Steve Bilko, Cardinals; Hal Daugherty, Detroit; Tom Saffell and Monty Bassgall, Pittsburgh, and Dick Littlefield, White Sox.

The New York Giants got down to the 25 player limit by giving pitcher Jack Kramer, 33, a veteran of 13 years of service in the major leagues, his unconditional release.

Page's release came as a surprise. The 33-year-old left-hander was released outright to Kansas City, an American association farm club of the Yankees. Peterson, a 27-year-old right-hander, was returned to Toronto, the club from which he was drafted last November. Neither he nor Page pitched to a batter this season.

Hero
Page, relief hero of the championship Yankee teams of 1947 and 1949, has been on the downgrade for over a year. He was of little assistance when the Yanks won the flag last season, winning but three games and losing seven. He reported to the club's Phoenix, Ariz., training camp with a sore shoulder this spring and hurled but six innings in exhibition competition.

Joe came up with the Yankees in 1944, listed as a starting pitcher. He started with a bang, winning a berth on the league's all-star team that July. He wasn't much good as a starter thereafter.

It wasn't until Bucky Harris, the Yankee manager, made him a reliever in 1947 that Page came into his own. He won 14 games that season and saved 16 others. He was the winning hurler in the seventh and final game of the world series against the Dodgers.

Page had an indifferent season in '48 but rebounded in '49 to win 13 games and again hoist the Yanks to the title. The effort earned him a salary of $32,500, highest ever received by a Yankee pitcher.

Under baseball law, the club can carry one man on the defense list for every five active players for the duration of one calendar year. In order to send a sear-of-return to the minors, a major league club must acquire waivers from the other 15 clubs.

When the Yanks were unable to obtain waivers on Martin, he was retired. He will draw his $7,000 salary for the entire season and can be reinstated whenever the club finds itself with a vacancy on the roster—under 25 players.

Zernial Ties Mark But A's Bow, 10-9

Philadelphia (AP)—Big Gus Zernial of the Philadelphia Athletics tied a major league record as he hit two home runs for six in three successive games last night but the St. Louis Browns won the long distance driving contest, 10 to 9, with Don Lohardt also hitting two homers.

The defeat, charged to rookie Johnny Kucab, dropped the Athletics back into the cellar as the Browns moved into the seventh spot with Al Widmar getting credit for his second victory of the year.

Pocono A. C. Clashes With Stockertown

Pocono A. C. will go in search of its third straight victory of the Blue Mountain League season tonight, when the Monroe County club invades the home domain of Stockertown, at 6:30. In addition to the Pocono A. C.-Stockertown contest, Roseto will play at Tatamy, in another Blue Mountain League struggle, at the same time.

Although no official announcement was made last night, Manager John Schoonover is expected to open the contest with Chet Lucki, a veteran right hander, on the hill. Although relieved late in the ball game, Lucki was credited with the opening day 10-4 victory over Tatamy.

Lineup
Pocono A. C.'s infield will be intact tonight, with Danny Eppley on first; Dewey Martling, field captain, at second; Jim Werkheiser, shortstop, and Dick Miller at third base. John Drew will do the receiving.

Bob Schick, partially recovered from a leg injury, will undoubtedly be in left field, Don Sweda, center, and Dick Schaller, right.

Schoonover, Russell "Lindy" Transue and Redge Flannagan will be ready to step in to the battle if they should be needed. Transue has won his only start of the campaign and Schoonover has come through with two brilliant relief jobs.

Roseto, another league power, will also be looking for its third straight victory tonight, as the A. C. crew takes on a Tatamy club that has found the going tough in the early stages of the present campaign.

Pocono A. C. and Roseto clash on Sunday, when they meet on the latter's home field, at 2:30.

College To Award Letters

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will hold its annual letter award program today in the school's auditorium, at 10 a.m. Phil Braun, chairman of the athletic council will be in charge of the program.

Captains
The 12 varsity captains will be seated on the stage and each will be called upon to make a comment on their respective teams.

Certificates will be presented to the captains by Braun and they will in turn present them to the various athletes who have earned such citations.

Cardinals Trip Phillies

Letters, emblems and certificates were given out to all members of the various teams in attendance.

Remarks
Earl F. Groner, superintendent of Stroudsburg schools; Alfred W. Munson, principal of Stroudsburg High, and Samuel O. Wells, assistant principal, spoke to the group, as did Sally Eckle, president of the varsity "S" Club and Mrs. Henning.

The girls and their guests enjoyed a turkey dinner prepared by the Home Economics class at the school.

East Bangor Runs Wild, 23-2

Johnsonville—East Bangor continued to show its power in the Blue Mountain league here in a two-light contest last night, as the visiting power house rolled to a 23-2 decision over the Johnsonville contingent, despite the fact that the home club came up with a well executed triple play in the fifth inning.

East Bangor had the game in the bag as early as the first round, when the visiting forces scored ten runs. However, to make certain of victory the East Bangor club came up with seven more runs in the second, two in the third, three in the fifth and one in the sixth. The contest was halted at the end of six innings because of darkness.

Two Counters
Johnsonville's two runs came one at a time, with one in the first and the same number in the sixth.

East Bangor accounted for a total of 20 safeties, including a booming triple by Ralph Kneebone.

Lions Present Wrestling Show

Grapplers In Action At Eastburg Gym

Benito Gardini, the gentleman who finds it impossible to choose between opera and the mat, and George Macri-costes, better known as the "Golden Greek" will headline the second outstanding wrestling show to be presented by the Lions club of the Stroudsburg, when a full card of grunt-and-groan artists perform for the public at East Stroudsburg High school tonight, at 8:30.

Gardini, known to television fans as the "Little Flower", is billed as the world's roughest, toughest, most colorful wrestling phenomenon in the business today.

The rise of Gardini has been quick and thrilling, as the Italian grappler has battled his way to the top in seven short years, despite an excitable condition that makes him a virtual madman in the ring, where he doesn't always abide by the rules of the game. His flashy clothes, long-hair and noble manner have made him a hit with all wrestling fans.

Macri-costes may not be billed as the roughest wrestler in the ring, but his flying mares, pattered kicks and solid skull butting put him in the select group of extra rough customers. The "Golden Greek" began his wrestling at the age of 13 in Athens, Greece, but is now a resident of Reading. Gardini is a native of Baltimore, but currently lives in Chicago.

Gardini recently set attendance records in Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland.

First Bout

Tonight's supporting cast will feature an opening bout pitting the veteran "Chic" Garibaldi against Frank Bruce, with a 30-minute time limit in effect. Garibaldi is one of the true veterans of the sport and has been famous down through the years as a tough customer.

Local fans will also see their second Australian Tag match, an affair that proved very successful last December. One of the teams in this special attraction will bring together Joe Corbet and Clyde Stevens against Jack Rush and Les Ruffin. Rush is one of the true villains of the sport.

Reserve seat tickets are still on sale, and may be purchased for two dollars. Doors to the East Stroudsburg gymnasium will open at 7:45 tonight.

Cubs Stage Scoring Spree To Defeat Dodgers

Chicago (AP) — Staging their largest scoring spree of the season, the Chicago Cubs hammered four Brooklyn pitchers for 13 hits to defeat the league-leading Dodgers yesterday, 14-4.

Backed by this power display that included four home runs, a triple and three doubles, Paul Minner coasted to his second victory. An ex-Dodger, the southpaw yielded ten hits but was never in trouble as the Cubs pounded him.

The White Sox scoring barrage was against starter "Chuck" Stobbs and Paul Hinrichs. Bill Evans took over in the third frame and gave but one hit the rest of the way.

Dobson Stops Former Mates

Boston (AP) — The Chicago White Sox bunched eight of their nine hits, including triples by Nelson Fox and Jim Busby, in the first two innings yesterday while defeating the Boston Red Sox, 9-5. All but one of the Boston tallies were provided by a pair of consecutive home runs by Walt Dropp.

The White Sox scoring barrage was against starter "Chuck" Stobbs and Paul Hinrichs. Bill Evans took over in the third frame and gave but one hit the rest of the way.

Dobson Shines

Former Red Soxer Joe Dobson, who has taken off about 20 pounds for manager Paul Richards, had trouble with only Dropp and Dom DiMaggio while chalking up his second win without a loss.

Dropp's first four-bagger came with the bases empty in the second inning but two teammates were aboard when he found his favorite left field target in the third.

Five runs were charged against Stobbs in the first inning when he was belted for five hits totaling eight bases while giving up a base on balls.

Evans, a onetime Chisox, then kept a firm grip on his former teammates until the ninth, which Gus Niarhos opened by drawing a and Niarhos scored on a Chico Carrasquel single.

Raschi Wins Sixth As Yankees Pound Indians

New York (AP) — Big Vic Raschi ran up his sixth victory of the year against a single defeat yesterday as the Yankees drove Bob Lemon from the hill and pounded out their second straight victory over Cleveland, 11 to 3.

In rare form, the Yank right-hander struck out ten Indians in the eight innings he worked and Brown powered three more over the plate with his second round tripper of the season.

In all, four Cleveland pitchers proved unequal to matching Raschi's performance. Lemon was combined for three runs in the first inning.

Barrett Drops Best Contest Coolbaugh

Shanna — Coolbaugh High registered its first victory in Monroe County league basketball yesterday afternoon, with a 13-8 decision over Barrett. It was the first season division loss for Barrett, but the charges of Joe Murray had clinched title last week and yesterday's didn't change the outcome of section race.

Neupert pitched well during the middle innings, during which time the Coolbaugh continued the bulk of its damage.

Home club held a 4-3 edge at end of the first frame, and further out in front at the end of the third, 8-3.

Scoring

Barrett scored three times in the 1st, to pull to within two runs the Coolbaugh contingent. However, the charges of Coach Doner exploded for five tallies in the bottom of the sixth to insure victory, despite two Barrett tallies in the seventh.

The Murraysmen will meet the winner of the southern division in special league playoff, on a date to be made public at a later date.

Stroudsburg High School Complimented Highly By Evaluation Committeemen

Alfred W. Munson, principal of Stroudsburg High School, yesterday announced receipt of the school's formal evaluation report.

The school underwent an extensive three-day evaluation last March by a committee representing the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"The report is very complimentary," Mr. Munson stated "and on the whole it bears out the findings of our own self-evaluation."

Highest rating the school received was on the caliber of the instructional staff. The report, signed by Dr. John B. Geissinger, chairman of the evaluation committee, listed the staff as "very good."

In the phase of the report covering the educational needs of youth, it was stated:

"The philosophy and objectives of the school, as stated by the (high school) staff, call for a high degree of self-direction by the students on domestic lines."

"The entire tone of the school confirms this statement. The educational needs are being met in the academic, vocational, agricultural and commercial fields."

In the phase of the evaluation covering pupil activity, the report stated:

"The tolerance on the part of the students, the easy comradeship in their programs, the engagement of creative effort in the activities are reflected in the pupils' attitude toward their daily school life."

"What makes it still remarkable is this attitude is developed despite crowded conditions."

"We wish to recommend a definitely scheduled period of regular school time be set aside for activities. This should enable bus students to take a more active part in the activities. This scheduled period would free the sponsor and pupil from noon, after school and night activities."

High school teachers have already reviewed the possibilities of such an activity program. Work will be continued during the summer regarding the possibility of fitting such a program into the regular school schedule.

In summarizing, Mr. Munson exclaimed: "Of course, one of the things which colors the whole evaluation picture is the amount of space available."

He added the administration is aware further steps must be taken in curriculum revision and guidance services must be extended.
